

Energy and the Environment

Building your community
one brick at a time

We do not only advocate energy efficient and environmentally friendly solutions, we implement them in our own business and lives.

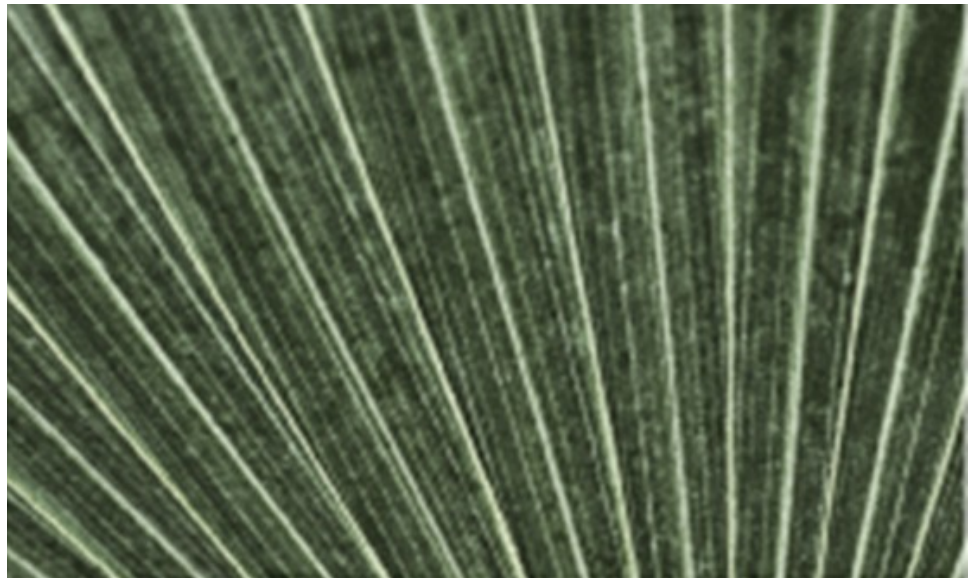

- We are proud to work with and for a member of the US Green Building Council.
- Our Managing Member is on the US Solar Power Commission
- Our office is a recycling drop off for batteries, old cell phones, and CFL bulbs. We offer this service to the entire community.
- Our office utilizes a passive solar design, low wattage lighting, and more.
- Come visit us in anytime to hear about all of our energy saving ideas.

Green Management

“Going Green” is not only a hot topic and can potentially save your association money, but it is the right thing to do!

Redbrick Managers are conscience of and knowledgeable about many different energy efficient and environmentally friendly solutions. From lighting, to landscaping, to the amount of insulation, we take a look at the full picture and advise you of any changes we feel you can make. Sometimes simple low or no cost changes can benefit the association’s pocketbook. Other times small investments can be made to see tremendous savings in the future.

We also have relationships with contractors who perform energy audits. These audits can range from free onsite inspections with recommendations, to in-depth studies on a properties full operating system.

We feel strongly that the decisions we make today can affect us now and will also affect future generations. We hope you decide on Redbrick Property Management and look forward to working with you on these important matters.
